Assembling the HoundHouse

The majority of the HoundHouse has been assembled by the factory. It does NOT require that you disassemble it in order to erect it.

After removing the components from the carton and identifying you have everything included you can assemble and erect the HoundHouse.

- 1) Start by aligning the corner clips with the upright (u-shaped hoops) to a point where you can roll the upright pole into the C-clip at each corner. Do this one-corner-at-a-time. Make sure you set the clip on the higher side of the rivet. See illustration A above

- 2) After inserting the poles into the clips on all four corners scoot the mesh mat up the upright above the rivet by a couple of inches, on all four corners. This allows a bit more flexibility in the combination of the hood and the uprights as you get set to straighten the uprights.
- 3) Reaching inside the hood, spread the two uprights away from each other as the hood takes the shape of the HoundHouse. After you do this, locate the pin (See illustration B above) on the middle/ridge top tube end and insert it into the backside hoop in the peak of the hoop.
- 4) You can now stretch out the hood by sliding the near-end of the middle/ridge top tube from the edge to the center of the near-hood pole while the C-clip locates it on the hoop pole.
- 5) After the walls are up and the hood is stretched, push the corners of the hood with mesh mat down at the clips to where they stop at the rivet. See illustration A above
- 6) When not in use, the HoundHouse stores flat and compact. Just slide the middle/ridge top tube over, let it drop into the center of the HoundHouse and let the hoops roll to the center. Scoot the corners of the hood up a bit and slide the entire set-up in the carry/storage bag, included with your HoundHouse.
